BEADLE & COMPANY'S DIME BOOKS.—The books were recently surprised, on looking over the series of them, to find so much excellent matter is given for that modest article, the dime, but still purchasable at 10 cents. History, Fiction, and Useful Works—some of which are suitable for school-use, to be found in this remarkably cheap series of publications. The author of "The Dime Book," has written a new and original memoir of a stamp and merit, published in them; so if you want a cheap and good 10-cent worth, get a Dime Book.—Louis A. Geddy (Geddy's Lady's Book).

READY THIS DAY:

No. 90 of the celebrated series of Original American Historical Romances, BEADLE'S DIME NOVELS.

which has now become recognized as the best and most commendable series of popular works yet offered to the American public. They win enthusiastic in every quarter for their original merit and the tasteful style in which they are issued.

No. 91 is

EAGLE EYE;

OR,

RALPH WARREN AND HIS RED FRIEND:

A TALE OF FORT OSWEGO.

By W. J. HAZLITT.

A forest picture, full of power and exciting interest. As a character delineation it is quite equal to Cooper's noted "Pathfinder" and his friend "The Sergeant." Lovers of Indian and Forest Romance will find it an exciting book.
